

Research shows that writing about difficult life experiences can be helpful.

Transitions has partnered with the University of Maryland and the University of Memphis in offering a writing research project for adult grievers.

Click this link to see if you are eligible to participate:

http://www.compmed.umm.edu/grief_writing.asp